Chairman Frick's Would-be Murderer Gets 22 Years in the Penitentiary.

The Real Facts of the Mexican Victories Over the Government Troops.

Pietro Buccieri's Awkward Fix---Keeley Gold Cure Patients Dying off Rapidly.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 19.—Alexander Berkmann, the would-be assassin of chairman H. C. Fricke, of the Carnegie Co., was convicted by the jury to-day and sentenced to 22 years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Merely a Question of Religion.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 19.—The reports which have emanated from El Paso, Texas, to the effect that a revolution had broken out in Chihuahua or Sonora, are untrue. The facts of the matter are as follows: Forty Indians at Tamache indulged in a religious demonstration, which was against the local law. Two of the chiefs, Jefe and Pelitis, were ordered by the authorities to retire, but refused. A guard of seven men was thereupon called to the scene and instructed to force the Indians to disperse. The guard was repulsed, however, and the authorities then appealed to the state for a guard of 75 men. This guard met with no better success than the first one. After attempting to put the stubborn Indians to flight the guard was also repulsed. Gen. Rangel, who was sent to investigate the trouble at the head of a military force, marched toward the place where the Indians had taken their stand, but had the misfortune to fall into an ambush which had been prepared by the Indians. Gen. Rangel was placed under arrest for allowing his force to fall into a trap, and the matter is to be fully investigated. The Indians including women and children, number 147. They have now decided to obey the authorities and the chiefs have already announced their adhesion to the Federal Government. It is thought that as they have yielded their demands for religious tolerance they will be listened to, as it is allowed by the constitution.

Doomed in Any Case.

READING, Pa., Sept. 19.—Shortly after midnight last night the residents near the court house were startled by a mighty cheer which continued for fully ten minutes. The jury in the case of Pietro Buccieri, charged with the murder of Sister Hildaberta at St. Joseph's Hospital in this city last June, had reached a verdict. It was murder in the first degree. The foreman of the jury had scarcely made this announcement when the crowd, which had packed the court room to the doors, gave vent to their feelings by vigorous cheers. The wildest confusion prevailed, and it was some time before order could be restored. The counsel for the prisoner endeavored to clear their client on the plea of insanity, which they attributed to epileptic fits. The testimony of a number of well-known physicians upset this theory. After the address of Judge Endlich the jury retired, and the people who had packed the building refused to leave the room. They were impatient and anxious to know what the jury intended doing. It leaked out here to-day that if a verdict of murder in the first degree had not been rendered. Buccieri would have been lynched. One hundred desperate men had stationed themselves near the jail, and it was their purpose not to allow the murderer to be returned to the prison had any other verdict been rendered.

Keeley Cure Triumphs.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., Sept. 19.—John M. Burt, 32 years old, a graduate of the White Plains Keeley Institute, died at the Middleton insane asylum on Friday night, where he was committed on Wednesday last as insane. Burt was well known at White Plains and moved in high social circles. He formerly resided at Carsdale, where he married a daughter of Geo. W. Ellis, a wealthy farmer. He was associate partner with his cousin in a large coal and feed business at Larchmont, on Long Island Sound. Geo. B. Sellick, aged 48 years, who came here intending to take the Keeley treatment, died of alcoholism at the Carpenter House on Sept. 9th. Jas. S. Herring, who had come here for treatment, died of alcoholism on Sept. 18, at a boarding house on Court street. It was claimed that neither Herring nor Sellick were treated at the Keeley Institute.

Half a Million in Smoke.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Sept. 17.—An extensive fire in the navy yard early this morning destroyed nearly half a million dollars' worth of property. It broke out in a three-story wooden extension of the machine shops, in which was stored the machinery of the new cruiser Cincinnati. It was totally destroyed. The flames extended to the ten-story brick machine shop and caused much damage.

Stricken With Paralysis.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—David McKinley, Consul General of the Hawaiian Islands, and a brother of Governor McKinley of Ohio, was stricken with paralysis this morning. Mr. McKinley was stricken down in his office at 11:30, and was at once removed to his home. The whole lower portion of his body is paralyzed and his condition is very serious. He is 68 years of age.

For Highway Robbery.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Judge Murphy this morning sentenced Sidney M. Bell to six years in state's prison for highway robbery.

Fatal Flames.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 17.—The house of Mr. Craven at Ashburne was burned last night by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp, and his two children and servant were burned to death. One of the children is over two years and the other only ten months. Susie Curran, the servant girl, was brought to the Jewish hospital in Germantown, where the died soon afterward.

Only the Crank Pin Broken.

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—The steamer Carroll with 100 passengers and 40 sailors, nearly three days overdue here from Halifax, and concerning whom great anxiety was felt both here and in Nova Scotia arrived at Booth Bay, Maine, this morning with her crank pin broken, but otherwise all right.

TO GIVE EVIDENCE.

Ministers Haggart and Patterson Summoned in the Cameron-McLean Case.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—Hon. John Haggart and Hon. Mr. Patterson left here on Saturday for Goderich, both being subpœnaed to attend and give evidence in the case of Cameron, ex-M.P. for West Huron, against McLean, of the World, for criminal libel. The World charged Cameron with gross irregularities and seducing a young girl in his employ. The story was circulated during the election, and it is said that Cameron will show by Haggart and Patterson that this was for political purposes.

Hon. Mr. Abbott will remain Premier until he returns from England.

DROWNED IN THE INLET.

A Logger Goes to a Watery Grave in the North Arm—The Finish of the Races.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 19.—The final heat in the 2:40 trotting class on Saturday was won by Dart, the best time being 2:35¼. Dart therefore takes the purse. Primero took the three-minute trot with ease; Chestnut Sam second; time 2:40. Conde took free-for-all trot in 2:29; Mink, second; Bishop Hero, third; best time, 2:29. Dr. Higginbotham's J.J.W. won the first two heats in the gentlemen's driving horses, but White Wings, who pressed him hard in these two, took third heat. The remaining two heats were postponed till to-day on account of the darkness, when also the expressman's race will take place. The meeting was a good success, the attendance on Saturday being large.

Angus McDougall, a logger, fell from a boom of logs at Deep Cove, North Arm of the Inlet on Friday night, and the body was not recovered till Saturday. An inquest was held this morning, and a verdict of accidental drowning returned.

E. H. Roome, the defaulting bank clerk, was again remanded till Thursday. It is feared that Bonner has committed suicide. The young man's fall was the subject of sermons in the city churches last evening.

Milligan, who was to have been sent back to North Bend, pending the inquest on the klootchman found dead, is still detained at the court house here.

Williams was released on a telegram from Jas. J. Smith, of Victoria, saying that the prosecution was unfounded.

Bishop Durieu and Fathers Chirouse and Bruno, arrived to-day, and will spend the week at Squamish Mission village before taking Indians to Kamloops for the gathering there next week. About 300 from Sechelt have already arrived.

CAPTURED THE ROBBERS.

Jewelry Thieves Captured—Opening of Westminster Exhibition—Nolan Mourned.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Sept. 19.—The two men who committed the jewelry robbery at Blaine last week were arrested at South Westminster on Sunday. A party came over from the American side, and seeing two men on the railway track approached them, when the men took to the bush, which was surrounded, and the robbers came out. On being searched watches with tags were found on both. They were given their choice either to return to the States to answer for robbery, or be arraigned here for bringing stolen goods into Canada. Both decided to return, and had warrants served when across the line. When the tide went out some spoil was discovered in the mud beside where the men were captured. One man is named Devine, a well-known Westminster rough character.

The exhibition opens in the morning; many people are now in town and the exhibits are arriving in vast numbers. Dr. Tolmie, of Victoria, brought over some choice cattle and fine horses this morning by the Rithet.

An Indian named Joe got six months this morning for giving another Indian beer. He got the beer at the brewery under the pretence of being a kanaka. The proprietor of the brewery, charged with supplying Joe, put in many witnesses showing that the man had been known as a kanaka for 20 years. Judgment reserved.

Many here are lamenting the departure of Nolan, the manager of the Canadian Co-operative society, as it has a branch in this city. Many workingmen in the society feel badly about the affair, having deposited much money with little results.

Deadly Gasoline.

MISSOURI VALLEY, Iowa, Sept. 17.—The house of Mrs. Andrew Eckenbach was burned this morning and her four children, the eldest eight years old, perished in the flames. The family were living in the upper story. They started the fire in attempting to fill a lighted gasoline stove.

Found Guilty of Murder.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 19.—The trial of the tramp Buck, at Dorchester for the wilful murder of policeman Steadman, of Moncton, resulted, on Saturday, in a verdict of guilty.

Mrs. Harrison Recovering.

LOON LAKE HOUSE, N.Y., Sept. 19.—Notwithstanding the dreary rainy weather the condition of Mrs. Harrison is improved this morning. She passed a comfortable night.

ARCHBISHOP DUHAMEL

Advises Catholic Co-operation With the Authorities Against the Cholera.

Gen. Hamilton and Officer Porgelius Use Terrible Language to One Another.

The Arrival of the Infected Wandrahm at Montreal Causes a Popular Uproar.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—A pastoral letter from Archbishop Duhamel was read yesterday in all the Roman Catholic churches of the archdiocese of Ottawa, urging the faithful co-operation with the authorities in preventing an outbreak of cholera and enjoining fasting and self-mortification with the hope that the epidemic may be staved off. The cholera scare in Canada is not abating, the most absurd and erroneous ideas regarding the alleged outbreak in New York are prevailing. This feeling has been intensified by the action of the Dominion Government in declaring a rigid quarantine against New York State.

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock while the wharves were crowded with people visiting H.M.S. Tartar lying in port, they were surprised to see the steamship Wandrahm, of the Hamburg-American packet line, sailing into port, flying the dreaded yellow flag. In a few minutes the people were in an uproar. The police were sent for and quickly came, as well as a number of quarantine physicians. When she got opposite their dock Dr. S. Lachapelle, the inspecter of the provincial board, told the agent that if the vessel touched shore there would be a row, and the signal was at once given for her to anchor. Soon after this she was boarded and found to have a clean bill of health from Grosse Isle quarantine station, but as she had not remained the necessary 10 days at quarantine she will not be allowed to land. Last evening Mayor McShane, Chief of Police Hughes and Dr. S. Lachapelle and other officials held a meeting and decided at once to institute a river patrol service. Arrangements were quickly made, and the steam tow boat Logie was chartered, and four police placed on board with carbines and twenty rounds of ammunition each, with orders to shoot any one coming from the vessel. Besides this two row boats with two officers in each were ordered out to row around the boat all night. These men were also armed. After the arrangements were made Dr. S. Lachappelle, who should not be confounded with Dr. Lachappelle of the central board, said to a correspondent that the reason that the boat was held was on account of her not having passed the necessary days in quarantine, not on account of there being any cholera on board. This time would expire at 6 p.m. on Thursday. In the meantime the guards on board will signal the shore if any sickness breaks out. He would not positively state that there were any cases on board. He had not examined the crew or passengers. An attempt was made to get the Dominion authorities to interfere by telegraph, but Mr. Munderloh got an answer that the action of the provincial authorities was endorsed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—At 10 o'clock this morning the bulletin of the health board says:—No cholera has appeared in this city since last bulletin.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 19.—A case of suspected cholera is in hospital here. John Cussick, a pole employed in some chemical works on Staten Island Sound, was admitted to the hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from what the physicians are inclined to think is Asiatic cholera. This morning the hospital authorities telegraphed the New York Board of Health to send a cholera expert to diagnose the case. All the nurses and patients in the hospital able to move, left the building this morning in a fright. The hospital is quarantined.

CAMP LOW, SANDY HOOK, N. J., Sept. 19.—The quarantine steamer William B. Fletcher, with 356 immigrants aboard, arrived at Camp this morning at 2:30, accompanied by second officer Porgelius of S.S. Rugia, on which boat they came across the ocean. Thirteen of the Scandia's passengers also arrived this morning. It was a pitiful sight to see two families that had left two each of their dear ones behind dead. The members of the two families wore a small piece of black crape on their hats. General Hamilton has done everything he could to make them comfortable, and they seem to appreciate his actions.

The Hoffman Island authorities have sent the poor immigrants here without a mouthful of food, and it was impossible to feed them immediately, which caused a great deal of excitement among them. Some were crying out lustily for food, while others appealed to all with whom they came in contact to give them something to eat. Quite a scene occurred between General Hamilton and second officer Porgelius, of the Rugia. Porgelius went among the immigrants using foul and boisterous language to them, and when General Hamilton called him to account for it he began the same way on the General. The General grabbed him by the coat and used some terrible language to him, which caused him to subside. The immigrants are loud in their denunciation of the steamer people in regard to the treatment received. General Hamilton says by night everything will be in order at Camp Low.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Another detachment of soldiers left for Fire Island under command of Capt. Geo. D. Russell. The detachment numbered 750 men. The action of the people of Islip led to the call for troops.

QUARANTINE, Sept. 19.—Dr. Byron's noon report to Dr. Jenkins is: Dr. Abbott is just back from the ships. He brings two bodies from the Scandia; Regia Garsloff, aged 66, who died of heart failure, and Christian Oelson, aged eight, whose death resulted from miasmus, and one new patient, Scholem Chazan, aged 16, from the Bohemia. With this exception all of the patients are out of danger and the island will soon be free of cholera patients." (Signed) DR. BYRON.

Forwarded to London.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—The affidavits in support of the statements respecting the seizure of the British Columbia vessels by Russian men-of-war in Behring Sea, were received by the Minister of Marine yesterday and at once forwarded to Her Majesty's Government. The facts in connection with the seizure were cabled to the Imperial Government some time ago.

GODFREY AND CHOYNSKI.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—A telegram received from Charles E. Davies, states that the Coney Island athletic club has offered a prize of $5000 for a contest to a finish between George Godfrey of Boston and Joseph Choynski of San Francisco. Choynski would have preferred to fight in this city, but the local clubs do not seem to think that Godfrey can make anything like a creditable fight and the California club will therefore not make an offer. According to a telegram received to-day the men are to meet in six weeks.

CORBETT KEPT COOL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The Herald says: Champion James Corbett did not seem very much worried yesterday over Joe Goddard's challenge and threat to claim the championship by default unless the Californian did not match with him inside of four weeks. On the contrary, he appeared to be very much amused. Corbett said: "Mr. Goddard and everybody else knows that I stated that after defeating Sullivan in New Orleans that I would not fight for a year, and I now wish to repeat that statement for Goddard's benefit. At the end of that time, if Goddard can get good backing I may give him a chance. Charley Mitchell, however has the first call on me, and if he comes along with the proper backing I will agree to fight him. Goddard's intention to call himself champion is all very well, but let him beware of the fate of "Jake Kilrain."

HONORS FOR THE VICTORIA.

An Address Prepared to be Presented to the Victoria's Captain.—The Steamer Due.

The steamer Victoria, the pioneer of the N. P. line of steamers, is now due from the Orient. She had not been sighted from Carmanah this afternoon, but she must be close by. The subscribers towards the clock and statuettes to be presented were:

Thos. B. Hall, A. C. Flumerfelt, Thos. Earle, M.P., E. G. Prior, M.P., R. P. Rithet, Lowen & Erb, E. B. Marvin, Ellis & Co., Robert Ward & Co. (Limited), E. M. Johnson, Charles Hayward, Nicholles & Renouf, Fred H. Worlock, The Brackman & Ker Milling Co., John McAlister, Albion Iron Works, C. E. Redfern, Hon. J. H. Turner, Henry Croft, Thomas Shotbolt, Lawrence Goodacre, Simon Leiser and George Byrnes.

An address has been prepared and will be presented with the clock. The address is beautifully engrossed and is in a very pretty frame.

The following is the address.

"To the Captain and Officers of the Steamship Victoria:

GENTLEMEN:—We, the President and members of the British Columbia Board of Trade, avail ourselves of this opportunity, the first occasion of the visit of your magnificent steamship Victoria to this port, of expressing our appreciation of the consideration and good feeling which have promoted the selection of the name she bears. We realize the reasonable expectation which her owners entertain of the amount of business likely to be done and have no doubt that you and her owners will do all that is possible to merit a large share of the patronage of this city and the province. Our expectation and desire is that your line of which the Victoria is the Pioneer, shall be up to all modern requirements both as to speed and capacity, and in token of our appreciation and good wishes beg you to accept the accompanying clock and statuettes.

Signed on behalf of the British Columbia Board of Trade, Victoria, B.C.

T. B. HALL, President.
A. C. FLUMMERFELT, Vice-President.
F. L. ELWORTHY, Secretary.

The Victoria arrived at the outer wharf at 4 o'clock. The members of the Board of Trade are requested to be present at the outer wharf this evening at 8 o'clock when the presentation is to be made.

Newfoundland's Quarantine.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 17.—The Government to-day issued a proclamation that vessels arriving from infected ports shall be quarantined for 21 days from the commencement of the voyage. The steamer Miranda, six days from New York, will be quarantined for 15 days. Her cargo of fruit has been thrown overboard.

Busily Preparing.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—Hon. Mr. Tupper is engaged daily with Dr. Dawson in the preparation of an answer to the United States case in the Behring sea arbitration. A conference is shortly to take place between the minister, Dr. Dawson and the Canadian counsel, when the entire case for the Dominion will be entirely settled.

THE SITUATION AT OTTAWA.

Sir John Abbott Obliged to Give Up the Premiership—His Own Opinion.

Unable to Attend to Business---The Real Object of His Trip Across the Atlantic.

From our own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The excitement over the premiership has abated with the announcement that Sir John Caldwell Abbott is about to leave for England. The Government organs a few weeks ago admitted th at the Premier was wholly incapacitated for doing any business. Now let us take the Premier's own version of how able he is to perform public business of an important character. One of the organs, the Ottawa Citizen, tells us to-day that there is nothing wrong with the political situation and that the Premier has gone to London to look after some Canadian interests which required to be attended to. Five days ago the Citizen said:

"The statement made by Sir John Abbott to a reporter of the Gazette concerning his health was undoubtedly intended to foreshadow his retirement at an early date from the Premiership. Sir John said, 'my general health is fairly good; but I do not seem to recover from my weakness or regain my capacity for mental work. I took a trip down the gulf with my son. It lasted ten days; it would have lasted longer only, when we reached Tadousac, we were informed of the Metropolitan mills having been burned down, and that put a stop to the trip. My general health was benefited by the excursion and the exercise it involved, but I do not think my capacity for mental or sedentary work was at all improved, but rather the reverse. The least discussion or even ordinary conversation for any length of time not only fatigues me, but produces extreme weakness.'"

The Citizen then went on to deal with the seriousness of the situation, and the importance of having, in the interests of the country, a successor to Premier Abbott at once. Having come to this decision the organ nominated Sir John Thompson for the position.

CORROBORATIVE PROOF.

Some of the Conservative newspapers saw that the Premier made a mistake in being honest enough to give the true condition of his health to the people, and were arguing that the interview was a fake. But Sir John Abbott would not contradict it because it was correct and he had no idea of denying it. Indeed when the organs were saying this Premier Abbott wrote the president of the central board of health, a body newly organized to protect the province of Quebec from the invasion of cholera, as follows:

"DEAR SIR:—I regret that absence from home has prevented my receiving your letter till yesterday, and as the state of my health prevents the possibility of my seeing my colleagues at this moment, I have enclosed your letter to the minister charged with the duties of quarantine with the request that he will give it as much consideration as is possible within the space of his jurisdiction."

TROUBLED WITH DIZZINESS.

Twice now Premier Abbott has put himself on record as to the true state of his health. As a matter of fact he does not deny that he is wholly incapacitated for doing mental work of any kind. As soon as he attempts to do anything of that nature his dizziness returns and he has to cease or he would very soon be prostrated. The Premier came to the city Thursday night and stayed all day yesterday. He did not attempt to do anything, nor would he see any one save some of his colleagues. He was desirous of leaving the ministry at once, but his colleagues persuaded him not to do so, because they were not ready to get a successor for him. While Sir John Thompson is evidently the man there are some obstacles in the way which must be got over before he is called to take the leadership. The sole argument against him is his devotion to Jesuitism, and the fear that he would make the affairs of the country subservient to the church of which he is a zealous convert. With the Manitoba school question at stake, many fear handing over to him the reins of office. If he would show his opponents that their fears were groundless in this regard he might succeed. With this in view it is said that an effort is being made to get Archbishop Tache to write a letter to the Government acquiescing in the principle of provincial schools, and not asking for any remedial legislation, providing that a committee is granted to look into the circumstances of the passage of the Manitoba act in 1890. This is a rather astute way of dealing with the question, and would not be satisfactory to the people. There has been too much mystery and vagueness in dealing with these matters already. Had there not been, and had the act been plain, as it should have been, so that everybody could understand it, there would be no room for law suits. The Privy Council, the court of last resort, has defined the powers of the province, and there the question must rest until such time as the constitution is amended.

GONE TO EUROPE.

But, coming back to the Premiership, the ministers saw that it would not do to keep Sir John Abbott here when he was unable to do any work, as everybody would be desiring to see him. He was able to be about, but he could do no work. Finally they got him to agree to go to Europe on the plea that there was important business in London which he would transact. There is some business no doubt there to be done, but Sir John Abbott will not be able to do it. It is unfortunate to have to say it, but the Premier will never be able for active work again. At any rate that is the view of all who have seen him and it is the freely expressed opinion given by himself. When here yesterday a gentleman said to him he was looking well, but the reply quickly came "I'm sick, I'm sick." To another he said: "I'm far from well."

WAITING FOR PARLIAMENT.

Some assert that the Government is desirous of waiting until Parliament meets before appointing a successor to Premier Abbott, and that he will stay in England for a couple of months. Parliament will likely meet in December, so as to get through with the work before the arbitrators sit on the Behring Sea matter, Sir John Thompson being one of the arbitrators and Mr. Tupper one of the agents. But the political atmosphere is full of all kinds of rumors at present, and it will take some little time before the exact position of affairs is known. SLABTOWN.

More Infernal Machines.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The World, yesterday morning, said: "A mysterious box, containing an infernal machine, was received by Governor Flower, at cholera headquarters in the Windsor hotel, a day or two ago. The nature of the contents was fortunately discovered before any harm was done, through a letter, the contents of which indicated that it was inspired by the same disordered brain which planned the mysterious machine. The Governor, last evening, was not inclined to talk about the infernal machine. It was learned that the letter was mailed in this city, but no information could be obtained regarding the place from which the mysterious box came." The police are making every effort to discover the identity of the person who, they believe, attempted to kill. So far they have not succeeded in getting any clue. Last Wednesday afternoon Governor Flower received a letter by special delivery warning him of a plot to kill him and advising him not to open any parcel which might be sent to him during the evening. A parcel came for the governor by mail. The chief inspector of police was notified and he sent a detective to the hotel, who took the mysterious parcel to police headquarters, where it was placed in a pail of water. Next day it was examined. On opening the box a weight attached to a lever fell on some sulphur matches. The bottom of the box was covered with gunpowder, and in one corner was a tin case containing at least a pound of giant powder. If the box had been opened there would undoubtedly have been an explosion with serious results. The powder in the box was sufficient in quantity to have killed the governor and every one in his apartments.

The G.A.R. Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Once again Washington is invested with an army. But to-day it is the call of peace and brotherhood that calls the boys in blue to the national capital, and they gather not to repel an invading army as they did thirty years ago, but to perpetuate the memory of their dead and to renew for a brief period the ties that joined them to their comrades during four years of hardship and danger. The citizens of Washington have extended them a royal welcome, and during the coming week nothing that money and forethought can procure will be lacking to make the 26th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic the most memorable gathering in the history of the organization. It is estimated that fully a quarter of a million of visitors have arrived during the past three days, and the city presents an appearance that is only equalled by the great gatherings that witness the presidential inaugurations every four years. The decorations, however, are far in advance of anything that could be attempted in so uncertain a season as March in Washington, and the gay appearance of the city reflects great credit on the liberality and good taste of the local committees. The White House itself, for the first time since it was built, is gayly decorated, over four thousand pounds of bunting having been employed for this purpose. The most brilliant social event of the week will be the reception to be tendered to the members of the G.A.R. in the rotunda of the Capitol to-night. The preparations for this entertainment have been under the management of Mrs. John A. Logan, and the event will mark something of an epoch in Washington society, as it is the first occasion on record that the rotunda of the Capitol has been used for a reception. Mrs. Logan will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Morton, the ladies of the cabinet, possibly by Mrs. U. S. Grant, Miss Clara Banton, and by the president and past presidents of the Women's Relief Corps.

Certain Professionals Should Think of It at This Time.

During the last winter and spring, many of Canada's professional singers, orators and elocutionists had occasion to test the virtues of that famous remedy, Harvard Bronchial Syrup. The unanimous verdict of the professionals is, "Harvard Bronchial Syrup has no equal."

There is no such thing as failure when this grand remedy is used. It acts quickly and promptly; it clears and strengthens the voice; it removes all irritation and inflammation; it is pleasant to the taste, and does not contain a particle that is hurtful or dangerous.

Our public singers, speakers and readers will do well to bear these facts in mind. It should also be remembered that there is but one genuine Harvard Bronchial Syrup. Ask your druggist for it and take no other.

The Hop Market.

The New England Grocer says: The hop crop is in an exceedingly critical position and the market very feverish and excitable. Last year's crop has been completely exhausted and the supply of old hops on hand has been reduced to a minimum. Many reports to the Homestead, preliminary to an actual census of acreage and yield, indicate that the total crop will be somewhat under last year's enormous yield, in spite of the increased breadth. The market is expected to open at 30 cents against 10 cents last year, and many growers and dealers expect a speedy advance to 40 cents per pound.

CANADIAN NOTES.

News by Mail and Wire From All Parts of the Dominion.

Joseph Priestman, the well-known broker of Toronto, is dead, aged 52.

D. Suiter's foundry at Calgary was burned to the ground Saturday morning.

The remains of David Campbell were stolen from the cemetery at Newboro, the coffin being smashed to pieces.

Edward McGuire, formerly a well-known member of the Young Toronto lacrosse club, is dead at Colorado Springs.

With the exception of fall wheat the grain crop is a failure in Kingston district, owing to excessive rains and over growth of straw.

The Toronto exhibition closed Friday night. The receipts for the two weeks were $71,925. For that of last year they were $67,063.

Nine protests arising out of the Manitoba elections are to be heard by the court. The petition against Mr. Roblin, accusing him of personal bribery, has been dismissed.

A petition is being circulated in Hamilton praying for the release from the penitentiary of John Callahan, who stole $15,000 from the street car boxes in small amounts.

A number of prominent capitalists are forming themselves into a company and will apply for a charter to bring electricity from Niagara Falls, to operate an electric railway in the vicinity of Hamilton.

The statement that all the soft coal mines in Nova Scotia have been sold to a United States syndicate is denied, the only sale consummated being that of the Ontario mine in Cape Breton, which has not been worked for some time past.

Mr. Lariviere, M.P., is not an applicant for the vacant senatorship for Manitoba, caused by the death of the late Senator Girard. The position is likely to be filled by the appointment of Mr. T. A. Bernier, a journalist of St. Boniface.

The St. John Globe gives currency to a report that Solicitor-General Pugsley, of New Brunswick, whose relations with Premier Blair are said to be strained, will retire from the Government and take the position of law clerk to the legislature.

City Medical Health Officer Allen of Toronto is of opinion that there is great danger of cholera entering Canada by way of Niagara Falls, and says a quarantine station, as well supplied as that at Grosse Isle, should be established at that point.

A company has been organized in Quebec and has applied to the corporation for permission to build an elevated street railway in the city. They ask exemption from taxation for 30 years and a franchise as conditions of their undertaking the project.

Samuel Wilson, the proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, Whitewood, N.W.T., while driving to Broadview was accidentally shot and killed. His gun fell into the buggy wheel and was discharged, the contents passing through his left leg and entering his chest, causing instantaneous death.

Hon. John McKinnon, member of the Legislative Council of Nova Scotia, is dead. His death removes the last but one of the Legislative Councillors appointed before Confederation, he having been appointed in 1867. The only surviver now of the anti-Union Councillors is Hon. D. McN. Parker.

D. A. O'Sullivan, the prominent Romon Catholic lawyer of Toronto, who studied in Blake's office, is dead. He obtained the degree of L.L.B. from Laval and Ottawa Universities and was one of the most prominent Catholic barristers in Canada. He was the author of several well-known law works.

By the boiler explosion at Staples, near Comber, seven men were instantly killed, one fatally injured, and about 20 more or less hurt. The dead are John Ewing, Michael Dumps, Joseph Papineau, Isaiah Chauvin, Jerome Chauvin (brothers), W. P. Daoust and Maize Culette. J. Boane is fatally scalded.

At the meeting of the Anglican Provincial Synod a grant of $1500 was made to Bishop Sullivan, of Algoma, to enable him to take a holiday, as he is in ill health at present. A conference was arranged between the upper and lower houses of the Synod to discuss the consolidation of the Church in British North America.

It is understood that when the Royal Commission on the liquor traffic finishes its labors in Montreal, Sir Joseph Hickson and Mr. G. A. Gigault will visit Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia as a committee of the Commission to take evidence. Afterwards the Commissioners will visit the principal cities and towns in Ontario, concluding their labors at Ottawa.

Premier Fielding, who has just returned from a lengthened visit to England, says:—"Hon. E. Blake's acceptance of the nomination to the British Parliament created the deepest interest among all who paid any attention to British politics. The English sympathizers with the Irish cause." Fielding added, "are disposed to look upon him as one who could reconcile the two divisions of the Irish party."

The recent decision of the Washington authorities in charging the Beatty Line tolls for Manitoba wheat unloaded at the Port Huron elevators, has resulted in compelling the company to have entire cargoes of grain carried by their steamers discharged at the Grand Trunk Railway's elevator at Point Edward, giving employment to a large number of men when the steamers arrive, which otherwise would go to citizens of the United States.

The Cabinet sat at Ottawa for a few hours Saturday, Sir John Abbott presiding. All the ministers were in attendance except Mr. Bowell. It is understood that the Premier will not retire, at least not at present. There is a feeling that remedial legislation will be enacted in regard to Manitoba school matters, but just what its character will be is not decided. Sir John Abbott will return next week and attend another Cabinet meeting.

Financial Troubles in London.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Land and Water declares that a financial crisis, which first found serious expression in the Baring collapse, is becoming more active. The situation is rendered worse by the artificial efforts made during the past two years to postpone the inevitable result. Within the past twenty-four hours seven clubs in the West End have been closed and half the London journals are on the verge of disaster. Five of the largest estates in England are shortly to be sold. Several commercial firms of hitherto good reputation are now distressed, and the number of well-known men, prominent as society entertainers, is vanishing. The writer instances the collapse of the Lyric Club, one of the smartest in London, with an aristocratic and wealthy membership. This club was seemingly prosperous, and most of the directors were wealthy; it was an extremely profitable concern. Suddenly a charge of wholesale forgery was brought against Captain Sanders, a member of the club, who was arrested in Liverpool, just as he was about boarding a steamer for the West Indies, and the whole fabric crumbled into dust. One prominent individual is reported to have lost £70,000, another £30,000, while a third feared that he would be made a bankrupt. The club itself was ruined.

THE AGED CAN BE MADE HAPPY.

The aged can be made happy, healthy and contented, and their lives greatly extended if they receive what they most need in their declining years. This is accomplished by using Paine's Celery Compound two or three times a day.

This magnificent remedy keeps up the nerve power, corrects digestion, clears the brain, and produces sound and natural sleep. Once these results are secured, the aged man or woman goes on from day to day in perfect health, and becomes a source of joy to all around them.

Help the old people; give them more care and attention; procure for them Paine's Celery Compound if they are complaining. Remember the old folks once were your protectors and guardians; they shared your joys and sorrows and alleviated your pains and distresses. Do something for them now, before the dark grave is reached. Make their last days bright and joyful. This is surely and effectually done by Paine's Celery Compound.

A Clergyman's Suicide.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Rev. Joseph Weedon, Vicar of Morrelton parish, of Lancashire, committed suicide at Rhyl, a watering place in Wales, yesterday morning. Mr. Weedon was considered to be a man of exceptional piety and was happily married. A fortnight ago when he started on a vacation, he behaved strangely toward his wife and finally told her he would have to leave her at home, as he did not have money enough to pay the board of two persons. Mrs. Weedon remained at home. Mr. Weedon met a pretty young servant girl from Morrelton at a station a few miles off and proceeded with her to Rhyl, where he introduced her at the hotel as his wife. The couple lived so extravagantly that when the bill was presented on Thursday night Weedon was unable to pay it. The landlord threatened proceedings, but Weedon held him off with promises to raise the money. The next morning Weedon bought a revolver, went to the hotel and shot himself dead. The coroner's jury to-day gave a verdict of suicide in a fit of insanity.

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents. *

THE WESTERN RAILWAY.

The requisite bond for $50,000 has been filed with the Provincial Government on behalf of the Canadian Western Railway Company, and the conditions having thus been fulfilled, the Government will give effect to the company's charter. This clears up all the legislative preliminaries, leaving the company free to proceed with the actual work of survey and construction. So far the men who have taken hold of the enterprise have shown activity and ability for business such as would seem to indicate their bona fide intention to build the road as rapidly as possible. All they need to secure success is to get a fair beginning made, since the heavy subsidy they are to receive will be likely to carry them through the rest of the way. In order to make a fair beginning a certain amount of capital is necessary, but there seems to be good prospects of its being procurable. There is no reason apparent why the road should not be built without much loss of time. It will unquestionably be a "good thing" for its promoters, having every prospect of a profitable traffic before it, to say nothing of the rich land grant that is to be conveyed by the province. There is certainly some difficult work ahead of the constructors of the road, but engineering difficulties are not so much thought of in these days as they were some years ago, when other transcontinental roads were pushed through in spite of them.

ALBERT HEAD.

The Colonist comes forward with an apparently authoritative announcement that the Dominion Government has at last decided to put the Albert Head quarantine station in "first-class shape." If this be true, it means that the station is to be practically reconstructed, as it were, for at present it hardly possesses one of the necessary qualifications. Its improvement to such an extent as will place it in "first-class" rank must involve a large amount of work and money, while a considerable length of time will be required. This thought is not at all reassuring when we remember that quarantine against cholera may be called for any day. Further, past experience of the Government's capacity for delay in making good such promises as that conveyed through the Colonist's announcement forbids the entertainment of a confident expectation that the work will be done promptly. If the Government for this once departs from its habit of procrastination and loses no time in properly overhauling the station it will at once surprise and please the British Columbian public. But improvement of the station is not all that is needful; a sharper and more careful observance of the quarantine regulations is also required. The Department of Agriculture has a large amount of leeway to make up in its administration of quarantine affairs, and should not delay a moment in setting about the business. It seems that the Halifax station has come in its turn to be condemned by quarantine exports. The commissioners from the boards of health who examined it pronounced it utterly useless and ineffective, though there has been a considerable outlay upon it. The story of Minister Carling's quarantine administration is therefore the same throughout—Grosse Isle, Halifax and Albert Head are all graphic testimonials to his want of capacity. The people were bound to find out one day the folly of keeping an incompetent and useless minister at the head of a department, but they probably little realized that the experience would be gained at the expense of a serious menace to the public health.

THE NEW REGIME IN IRELAND.

John Morley has been Chief Secretary for Ireland for only a few weeks, but already he has taken the very radical step of setting aside the proclamation issued by the late Government under the Coercion Act. This means that all special machinery for the repression of crime in Ireland is removed, and that henceforth trials there will be held by ordinary process of law, as in England and Scotland. One immediate result of this has been the resumption of their holdings by evicted tenants and a general movement towards the ownership of land by its actual occupiers. There are not wanting prophets, even among the Liberals, who predict that the revocation of the Coercion Act proclamations and the removal of the special powers of magistrates will be followed by a regular saturnalia of crime in Ireland. Their predictions are surely not well founded, since the Irish are likely to appreciate as clearly as the Tories and Unionists the fact that an outbreak of disorder now would mean the delaying of Home Rule, if it would not be fatal to it altogether. If the Irish had no higher motive than self-interest to keep them quiet, that motive might fairly be expected to secure peace and order in the presence of their new-found freedom. If they were so much inclined to crime and turbulence as is represented by the Tories, they would scarcely be ready to play into Tory hands by showing themselves unfit for self-government and by demonstrating that Toryism and coercion are the only means of keeping them in order. But there is good reason to believe that the hope and confidence born of the better prospects ahead will be more potent peacemakers in Ireland than all the forces of coercion and tyranny. The surest way of making the Irish orderly is to make them contented, and contentment is very apt to come with Home Rule in sight. We should hesitate to believe that the people of Ireland are so stupid and short-sighted as to balk the movement in which they have so keen an interest.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

An invariable accompaniment of the presidential contest in the States is the story of the employment of "British gold" in some manner or other to affect the issue. This year it takes the form of a statement that half a million dollars was used by certain Englishmen to bribe Congress into rejecting the proposed silver coinage legislation. The new form of the story is not more absurd than its predecessors, nor more nonsensical than the chronic yarn of Canadian Tories about American gold being used to help Liberals.

At the Petrolea picnic Minister of Finance Foster said that in 1889 the debt of Canada was $237,000,000; in 1890 and 1891 it was the same; and in 1892 it was $236,000,000. Then he triumphantly asked: "How was that for heaping up the public debt?" Just a few days before that the Canada Gazette constained a statement emanating from the Finance Department making a very different showing, and people are naturally puzzled to know whether the Minister or the Department is right. From the Department's reports the following figures are taken showing the state of the national debt in different years:—

	Net debt.	Gross debt.
1887.....	$227,314,775	$273,187,626
1889.....	237,530,041	287,722,062
1891.....	237,809,030	289,899,229
1892.....	241,035,335	295,265,290

From this it appears that instead of a decrease of a million dollars from 1891 to 1892, there was an increase of over three millions. Minister Foster must have been trying to deceive his Petrolea audience.

Says the Kootenay Star:—We cannot understand Mr. N. Fitzstubbs' antipathy to newspaper advertising. He has caused to be posted on the doors of various public offices in the district a small half-printed half-manuscript form calling for tenders for the construction of the new wagon road from Nakusp to Slocan Lake. But neither the Miner, the Hot Springs News nor the Kootenay Star—the three papers published in West Kootenay—has been made use of. Government officials in the coast cities invariably use the newspapers as an advertising medium. But we presume Mr. N. Fitzstubbs is one of those individuals who go in for cheapness and petty shifts to save a cent and thereby gain the reputation of being a careful financier of the public money. But as the newspapers have brought the wealth of West Kootenay to the world's notice, and are entitled to a share of the prosperity now commencing, it seems mean, petty and the very essence of cheapness for Mr. N. Fitzstubbs, as a Government official, to ignore them when there is any advertising to do.

Montreal Witness:—Sir John Abbott will, according to the Government organs, try an ocean voyage and a resin England before giving up the Premiership on account of bad health. It is obvious that only urgent party necessity would compel Sir John to retain the reins of office in his present state of health. It is probable that this necessity arises out of the inevitableness and undesirableness of Sir John Thompson's succession. Sir John Abbott's Government is an opportunist one, of which he is probably no longer more than the figurehead. The royal central personality of Sir John Macdonald, about whom it was framed, being wanting, his government must remain as he left it or fall to pieces. It has shown no power of freeing itself from its corrupting elements, so that we have little or no sympathy with it, but for all that we sincerely and heartily hope that Sir John Abbott will recover health and spirits, enjoy his trip, and remain at the head of his Government until he and it are utterly condemned and defeated by a people so burnt out by corruption as to be beyond the capability of ever suffering from the same political plague again, as people who have suffered from smallpox are generally safe from a second attack of that foul disease. There is no way out of corruption, apparently, but through it.

THE BANK NO SUFFERER.

The Defaulting Bank Clerk's Peculations Fall Upon Their Bondsmen.

Mr. W. C. Ward, manager of the Bank of British Columbia here, returned from Vancouver last night. Mr. Ward was seated in his office when questioned by the TIMES man as to the Bonner-Roome defalcations.

"Have you found out anything about the whereabouts of Bonner?"

"No, there is no trace of him. The chief of police of Nanaimo says that Bonner could not have left Nanaimo by any known route, and the supposition has gained ground that he has suicided, but it is only a supposition. It is expected that the defalcations of the two men will amount to $10,000. The bank will not be the loser. Our officials always put up bonds. It is nothing to us if Bonner does not turn up. But we would like to see him get his deserts for his misdeeds, the same as Roome.

The Inimitable Sol.

Sol. Smith Russell. Those who have seen him will find it hard to repress a pleased smile and a thrill of delightful anticipation at the possibility of seeing him once more. Those who have not seen him may say "what a queer name." Yes, and he is a queer man; one of those men who could upset the gravity of a quaker meeting by merely changing the expression of his mobile face. And then his delicious New England drawl, "waal, naow, yeou jest better believe' I ca'klate." Nobody can resist it. Nobody is proof against Sol Smith Russell's drollery. Laugh you must, and laugh heartily. It is the fun that appeals alike to the classes and the masses. Far removed from the vulgar and the bitter; nothing in Sol.'s merriment can offend the most tender sensibility. This prince of laughter-provokers will hold the boards at the Victoria on Wednesday evening, and for one night only, in his best play "The Poor Relation." Those who secure their seats "right naow" can afford to smile. The seats went with a rush to-day.

Lucky Hunters.

Messrs. H. W. Pauline and George Gawley had splendid luck on their hunting trip to Sooke on Saturday. They encountered a huge black bear in the woods about three miles from the road. Three shots from Mr. Pauline's rifle cut short bruin's career. When dressed he weighed 324 pounds. The skin is a very fine one, although out of season. The two hunters had a terrible time lugging the bear through the bush and over the hills to the road. They also shot two fat deer.

Israel's 5653rd Year.

The Jewish New Year will be ushered in at sunset on Wednesday next, September 21st, corresponding with the Hebrew month of Tishri the 1st and the year 5653. Services will be held at the synagogue at 7 p.m. and 8 a.m. during the holidays embracing both Thursday and Friday. Ten days later Yom Kippur, the most sacred day in the year for Israelites, will be observed. On that day a strict fast is observed.

That Assault Case.

The police have as yet been unable to obtain a clue to the whereabouts of the man, who it is alleged, committed an assault on the wife of a Saanich farmer. The man's friends say he has not been on the island for several months and therefore claim that he could have had nothing to do with the alleged assault.

The Russian Seizures.

Still the sealers and customs authorities have heard nothing from the Government in regard to the Russan seizures reported a couple of weeks ago. The sealers have given up worrying about the matter, as they do not expect much satisfaction out of the thing anyhow.

Hospital Collections.

The following amounts were collected in the different churches yesterday in aid of the Jubilee Hospital:

St. Paul's Presbyterian, Victoria West...	$ 9.75
Cedar Hill Presbyterian.....	21.35

The treasurers of the other churches in which collections were taken up have not yet reported.

CHASED BY THE ADAMS.

The Steam Sealer Thistle Has an Exciting Experience With a U. S. Revenue Cutter.

Brought too by a Shot Across the Bows—Zabiaka Also on Her Track—Penelope in.

Two more sealers are back in port safe. They are the Penelope, owned by Morris Moss and commanded by Captain Cole, and the steam schooner Thistle, commanded by Capt. Nickerson. The former has 1306 skins for her season's work, and the latter 445.

The Thistle arrived in port yesterday morning, and is tied up at Spratt's wharf, at the close of the sealing season on this side. She did not run across to Copper Island, but went north on a whaling cruise. She took no whales; they are very scarce. The entire cruise was uneventful with the exception of one little affair with the U.S. gunboat Adams. It was on June 16th, and the Thistle, with a number of other vessels, had their boats out sealing, when the Adams appeared. The Thistle very quietly gathered in all of her boats and stood away to the south. After the Adams had warned all the other schooners, she started after the Thistle. The chase lasted until 11.30 that night, when the Adams, catching up, brought the Thistle to with a shot across her bow. Captain Nickerson hove to, hoisted the British ensign, and showed the officer who boarded him clearance papers from San Francisco to Petropaulovski on a whaling cruise. The officer left without warning him, seeing only whaling boats on deck to further convince him of what he had been told.

The Adams later discovered the mistake and has been seeking the Thistle ever since.

It might be stated also that Capt. De Levron of the Zabiaka expressed a wish to fall in with the Thistle. The Thistle shipped her skins from Sand Point to Ross & Hewlett, San Francisco. The Thistle will remain here awaiting orders from her owners.

The Penelope has but little that is new to report. She has been 33 days coming down from Copper Island, never saw the Russian cruiser, and did not know of any seizures. She spoke several schooners, but they have all been reported. She heard of the loss of the Marvin's boat in which William Shields was hunting. She has 1306 sealskins for her season's work. What she has aboard she will unload at Rithet's wharf. The Penelope was the last vessel to speak the Maggie Mac on the coast, seeing her on March 20. The Penelope has been off the coast of the island for nearly two weeks.

On Thursday morning, off Cape Scott, the Thistle passed a sealing schooner bound this way. Her name could not be made out.

Further Fire Protection.

A new fire alarm box is being introduced into the fire department and will be placed in the centre of town on one of the Government street corners. It is a keyless box and rings two alarms; one when the door knob is turned, and one for the fire. The former is to warn the policeman on the beat when a false alarm is rung in. Very frequently fires occur when the stores and saloons where keys are placed are locked up. The chief fears a big fire down town may get a good start on such an occasion so he is having the keyless box put in. The bell rung when the knob of the door is pulled is near the box and easily attracts attention by its loud clanging.

The Home is Overcrowded.

The Protestant Orphans' Home is overcrowded and the managers, have very reluctantly had to refuse admission to several very deserving children. The present home, which when built, was thought to be large enough for requirements for years to come is now found to be a great deal too small. The trustees are losing no time in making arrangements for the home to be built with the money left the institution by the late J. G. Taylor.

At Government House.

At the vice-regal dinner, Government House, on Saturday evening, Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nelson entertained the following guests: Admiral Parrayon, Admiral Hotham, Capt. Lambton, Capt. Bessen, Lieut. Amelot, Lieut. de Sellier, Lieut. Grahame, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Holmes, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Walkem and Miss Rhodes, Commander E. P. and Mrs. Jones, Miss Dunsmuir, Miss Payne, Capt. Ogilvie and Mr. Herbert Stanton.

The Ambulance Ready.

Mr. Chas. E. Jones returned last evening from a six weeks' trip through the east. He visited all the principal cities in the States and Canada, combining business with pleasure. The ambulance wagon for the Jubilee Hospital, which is being exhibited at the Toronto exhibition, was seen by Mr. Jones. He says it is a beauty. Mr. Jones is much improved in health, and besides had a profitable business trip.

The First of a Series.

The first of a series of winter concerts under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A., is to be held this evening at the Association's Hall, Broad street. Among those who are to take part are: Mr. H. Kent, Geo. Jay, jr., R. Ross Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Temple. These names are a guarantee that there is a musical treat in store for those who attend.

Will Drill To-Night.

The members of the Uniform Rank K. of P. who are to take part in the competition at New Westminster, will meet as usual at the market hall this evening, in full dress uniform. After drilling they will go to the Islander, on which boat, they go over to the mainland.

To Replenish Stores.

The schooner W. P. Sayward will probably make a trip up the coast with a cargo of stores. The stocks held by the different trading posts on the West Coast are very low, because the Indians did all their buying there this summer, fearing to come to Victoria.

The band of the French flagship Dubourdieu will play at high mass at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral next Sunday morning. It is expected that one of Mozart's masses, perhaps the Twelfth, will be rendered.

Important Business

A meeting of the shareholders of the National Electric Tramway Company will be held in the company's temporary office on the 9th of October. Resolutions to increase the stock of the company to $1,000,000, for amending the by-laws, and for authorizing the trustees to borrow money on debentures or bonds, will be offered.

Visiting Tacoma.

Several hundred Victorians took advantage of the excursion to Tacoma yesterday on the steamer Joan. The trip across was a long and pleasant one, and the few hours allowed the passengers gave them plenty of time to see the sights of the City of Destiny. The return trip was rather monotonous, the Sound being one mass of fog, making steamboating a difficult task. The officers of the boat did everything in their power to please their patrons and ensure their comfort.

Paraphernalia Arrives.

The new outfit for Columbia Lodge, No. 2, I.O.O.F., has arrived, and the lodge will now be able to confer degrees according to the Sovereign Grand Lodge work. The paraphernalia is very handsome and complete. At the meeting on Wednesday evening the routine business will be gone through quickly in order to give the degree team time for drill in the new work. During the evening Canton Victoria No. 1, P.M. will pay an official visit to the lodges in full parade dress.

Washington Democrats.

C. G. Heifner, Secretary of the Board of Public Works of Seattle, and one of the most prominent Democrats of that city, spent Sunday here in company with his father-in-law, E. Day, of Shenandoah, Ohio, who is visiting him. Mr. Heifner was one of the managers of the recent city campaign swept by the Democrats when Mayor Ronald was elected. He was, in fact, chairman of the city central committee. He says he would not be surprised if Washington should go Domocratic, and is confident of the election of Cleveland and Stevenson. Mr. Day visited Victoria for the first time, and, like Mr. Heifner, admires it very much. The two drove all over the city yesterday.

For Political Purposes.

Henry Drum, the Tacoma capitalist, who is one of the Northey syndicate, spent Sunday in the city, arriving Saturday evening and returning last evening last night. Recently $2500 was sent from Tacoma to the Seattle Telegraph, the Democratic organ. That much is admitted. The Telegraph says it borrowed it, giving its note, and the Republican press claims that it was a subsidy from Tacoma people to obtain its support in fighting the Lake Washington canal. The latter allege that Henry Drum gave the money to L. E. Post, who was here with George W. Vanderbilt yesterday, and that he took it to Seattle. The fight is being made an element of the campaign. Mr. Drum last evening denied ever having subsidized anybody in the matter.

Eastern Prelates Visiting.

Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax arrived in town Sunday afternoon. He was a guest of Bishop Lemmens during the day and in the evening left for New Westminster by the steamer R. P. Rithet. Dr. Murphy of St. Mary's Church, Halifax, accompanied the Archbishop. Those two clergymen, together with Father McDonald, of Summerside, P.E.I., have been making a pleasure trip across the continent. Father McDonald arrived in town Saturday, and the parishioners of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic church listened to that eloquent preacher at Sunday services. Dr. Murphy and Father McDonald will return by the Yosemite to Vancouver to-night. There they will meet Archbishop O'Brien, who is visiting his brother, who lives at Vancouver. The party will return east Wednesday afternoon.

Geo. W. Vanderbilt, Millionaire.

A gentleman wearing a soft white felt hat, with a band of crape, a black coat and vest and checkered pantaloons, ran down the staircase at the Driard. He carried on his left arm a mackintosh and this he carelessly threw on the rack at the entrance to the diningroom. He was tall and inclined to be slender. His step was buoyant. He was a young man. His name was Geo. W. Vanderbilt, the New York millionaire.

"Would you favor by letting the public know your mission to Victoria?"

The interrogator was a TIMES man. Mr. Vanderbilt took the proffered card and smiled.

"Everywhere! everywhere!" he exclaimed. I am sorry that I have not a big deal for you to-day. My trip is for pleasure. I have just returned from a pleasant drive around your city. It is a very pretty place."

"You intend visiting Japan?"

"Yes, I leave on the Empress to-night" (Sunday.) The carriages to take the party to the wharf were waiting outside.

"Will you sojourn long in the East."

"My movements are even unknown to myself. Where I may be two months hence I cannot tell you. But you must excuse me." And he took a large gold watch from his pocket, hastily looked at the time. "Good-bye, I may see you again," and he was in the dining room.

The Human Voice Divine.

Hundreds of good voices are either lost on account of the diffidence of the owners, or ruined by trusting them to so-called instructors, who know absolutely nothing of voice culture or production. Persons who are by no means qualified to undertake the teaching of singing, often manage to secure quite a following of dupes, who fondly imagine they can sing after the imposter has finished with them. But teachers who have taken the trouble to attend the best singing schools of Europe, as Mr. W. Ralph Higgins has done, and there acquire a thorough knowledge of the latest systems, are to be trusted. Mr. Higgins has been at great pains to qualify himself to instruct his pupils in the art of singing, and there can be no doubt his classes will show that degree of rapid improvement to be expected under so skilful an exponent.

End of a Good and Useful Life.

William J. McDowell died Saturday evening at 7 o'clock after a protracted illness, aged 37. The deceased was employed in the Attorney-General's office, but formerly occupied the position of telegraph editor of the Daily Colonist in this city. Although all his life a cripple and never free from painful illness, Mr. McDowell was noted for his kindly and cheerful disposition. He was a native of Cork, Ireland, and came here when only a boy. After working a few years as a printer he began publishing an evening newspaper, the Post, in this city. The Colonist finally took it over, and Mr. McDowell secured an editorial position on that paper. He discharged his duties faithfully and conscientiously. He was well-liked by the brotherhood of journalists in Victoria, all of whom sincerely mourn his untimely end. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 10 from St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral.

Cheering Intelligence.

The commencement of actual construction on the island portion of the Canada Western Railway is assured by January 1st. So stated Mr. F. P. Blackman on Saturday evening. The announcement has just been received by telegraph from the First National Bank of Chicago that the $50,000 bond had been placed by Mr. Frank Bakeman. This was followed by the placing of a similar bond here with the Government by Mr. R. P. Rithet. One small matter still requires arranging in connection with the bond before the organization of the construction company will begin. This will be attended to by to-morrow night.

Two Interesting Programmes.

Professor Golledge will give some practical instructions to-morrow evening at the Y.M.C.A. rooms, in the art of reading character by phreno-physiognomy. Ven. Archdeacon Scriven will occupy the chair. The lecturer will also give examples of disposition interpretation with members of the audience. On Wednesday evening, at the same place, Professor Golledge will take for his subject "Old maids, bachelors, the marriage state, etc." He will give some valuable and interesting hints upon the choice of life-partners. There will be the usual phrenological examination. A excellent time is promised.

Tain't So.

City Treasurer Kent says that it is untrue that a woman has received a license to keep a house of illfame. This statement was made by the morning paper. Mr. Kent looked over his books and stated that some time ago a license had been granted to a woman to sell tobacco and, and that this woman was afterwards fined for keeping a house of ill fame.

The Lice Can't Stand It.

The spraying of hops with chemicals to kill lice which threatened the destruction of the hop crop of Washington has proved to be a complete success. Hops that were sprayed prospered on the next poles, to hops that were not sprayed were completely destroyed. The spray has proved the saviour of Washington's greatest industry, outside of the production of town lots.

It's a Great Little Line.

The last number of the Railway Age contains a map of the line of the Spokane and Northern Railway and the country through which it runs and will be run. It says the road is one of the most important small line recently conducted, and lays stress on the great producing country which it will eventually tap.

Parliamentary Debating Club.

The mock parliament will convene in the Y.M.C.A. legislative hall two weeks hence. The elections Saturday night placed the Liberals in power, and they will be called upon to form a ministry. T. W. Teague has been, unopposed, elected to the speaker's chair. Announcement of caucuses will be given later.

Dangerous Sport.

The residents of the Gorge road complain that a number of boys and men are in the habit of shooting in rather close proximity to their houses. A charge of shot went through one gentleman's barn the other day. The hunting grounds are inside the city limits.

Two Taps for the Chief.

People about town have been mystified lately on several occasions by hearing two taps of the fire bell when there was no fire. Two taps in the department is the chief's call. Just paste this in your hat, please.

Detained by Fog.

The sealing schooner reported to be outside by the steam schooner Thistle is thought to be the Mary Ellen. Whatever vessel it is she will not be in for a few days yet.

CITY POLICE COURT.

Another Raid on the Bagnios—The Inmates Engage Counsel.

Ten women of the "demi-monde" were arraigned before Magistrate McCrae this morning. Their places were "raided" by the police at 11 o'clock last night, and they spent the night in jail. The usual large crowd of idle spectators were present. The names of the women were Louisa Jones, Maude Lord and Lyne Woodruff, keepers, and Lottie Simpson, Stella Elliott, Stella Blanchard, Lizzie Murdock, Claude Hunt, Celia Stone and Lizzie Watson, inmates. Celia Stone pleaded guilty and was fined $25 or one month, and an hour's imprisonment. The other women had instructed Lawyer S. Perry Mills at the opening of the court to represent them. That gentleman, addressing the court, stated that there was no doubt the women were entitled to certain legal rights, and he would ask for an adjournment of the cases till Wednesday to look into the matter. He intimated that if he found that their rights were such as to call in legal question the action of the city, he would not flinch or be ashamed to defend them. Mr. Mills said it would be well to have the opinion of even the higher courts on the matter. Magistrate Macrae granted bail, the keepers in $100, and the inmates in $50 each.

When the case against Ah Hing, charged by Ah Mee with cutting and wounding, was called, Ah Mee had fainted and had to be carried out of court. The case was adjourned till Thursday. Ah Hing admitted in the box that he stabbed Ah Mee, but explained that the cutting was done unintentionally. They were having a little fun. Ah Hing had a knife in his hand, and in struggling with Ah Mee the latter was accidentally cut. This is the story of Ah Hing. Ah Mee will tell a different tale on Thursday.

John Thompson, former bartender at the Victoria, discharged by Mr. Thos. P. Patton, the proprietor, was asked by that gentleman Saturday night for $50 owing to Mr. Patton. Thompson replied by striking Mr. Patton a blow in the face. Thompson paid $22 fine.

David Simpson and Fred. Templar were drunk and paid $5 into the city exchequer. The court then adjourned.

NOVA SCOTIA'S GOVERNOR.

Hon. Mr. Daly is Here for a Rest From Political Cares.

Lieutenant-Governor Daly, of Nova Scotia, is a guest of Bishop Lemmens. Mr. Daly is on a pleasure trip to British Columbia. He is a tall, broadly built man, his hair is silvery and he wears a moustache slightly tinged with grey. He dresses in a small checkered tweed suit, and his coat is a three-button cutaway. He bowed and said "Good morning" to the TIMES man. Then he took a long pull from a half extinguished cigar that he had held in his left hand.

"No politics," he said. "I came here for a rest from politics. I am making a trip through Canada. I think it only proper that the different provincial governors should become acquainted. We should know one another better. You can tell your readers that I am quite at home here. More so than in the other provinces. British Columbia and Nova Scotia have much in common. I am interested in your Esquimalt dock. I intend to see it this afternoon. We have a dock at Halifax. I believe it is slightly larger than yours. The Blake is in the Halifax dock. You could place a tug along side of her and still have room left. I believe that the Warspite is in dock here. A coincidence is it not? It was a happy idea the building of the naval docks. I remember we got one on the strength of your getting one. That was when I was in the House. I will visit the Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia before my return. As I want to see your public institutions I shall not have much time upon my hands, if I leave the city to-night."

"Is there no leading question at present occupying the attention of your province?"

"The question of the greatest moment to us is the success of Premier Fielding in consolidating the debt of the province and obtaining a loan at 4 per cent., instead of the 5 and 6 per cent. that we have been paying. But I said no politics, sir. Good morning.

A STRATFORD BABY!

There lives to-day in Stratford, Ont., a baby boy who is plump, fat and strong. A short time ago his condition was alarming—the family thought he must die. He was sickly, thin, weak and very restless, and required constant care and attention.

The mother was almost worn out by anxiety watching, and believed she had used every possible means for baby's recovery. Fortunately she thought of Lactated Food, and decided to give it an immediate trial. The sickly baby seemed to relish its first meal of this food. It was retained on the stomach, much to the surprise of all.

The baby, after a few days' feeding on Lactated Food, was doing splendidly; and every day an advancement was made in strength. To-day the happy mother is one of the strongest advocates of the wonderful food that saved her baby.

Mother, if your dear baby is not strong, bright and happy, let us advise you to use this same Lactated Food, which is so strongly recommended by the majority of the mothers of Canada.

THOSE LEARNED JOKERS.

TO THE EDITOR:—I noticed in the weekly of the 29th of July an account of a so-called joke played by "two learned men on an ambitious writer." This incident affords an interesting study in human nature—very much at the expense of "those two grand intellects who have drunk deeply at the at the well of knowledge and have been the round of the universities, Oxford to Heidelberg, etc." Mr. Rudyard Kipling the intended victim of this precious joke, is quite unknown to me, and I have never read a line of his writings. But had he been plain John Smith, or even a cat or a dog, one would still have rejoiced to find that something else than the almighty dollar was worshipped in such close proximity to the American boundary. According to your informant, Mr. Kipling appears to have made himself as disagreeable as he could, and to have been worshipped in spite of all his efforts to repel his admirers. Query: Would the Oxford and Heidelberg jokers be worshipped in Oxford or Heidelberg under like conditions? My own suspicion is that these gentlemen must have left Oxford and Heidelberg when they were babies. However that may be, it is to be hoped they will soon be lionized to their hearts' content, if for no other reason than to save them the temptation to bore you further with their envious reflections. It appears that "Rudyard had treated the savants with marked coldness," and your informant has been still more unkind to them in letting this be known, and thereby reversing the moral he intended to point. I am, etc., A.M.S.

P.S.—I shall certainly begin a course of Rudyard Kipling now. I think there must be something in him. S.

University Club, Edinburgh, N.B., England, 31st August, 1892.

The Lapps.

The Lapps call their country Sabme or Same, and themselves Samelots, and the term lots has generally been supposed to be a contemptuous nickname given to them by foreigners, derived from the Finnish "lappu," and meaning simply "land's-end-folk." A more plausible suggestion, however, is that of Prof. Friis, of Christiania, who refers the term to an old Finnish root "lappaa," signifying to roam or wander about, in allusion to their nomad habits. In the mouth of southern or more civilized Lapps it appears to have become synonymous with rude or barbarous, and is so applied by them to the less cultured northern communities.

Anthropologists seem to have some difficulty in assigning to the Lapps their exact place in the human family, but it may be safely affirmed that they are a combination of Caucasian and Mongolian types. Be this as it may, their physical characteristics are remarkable; decidedly more remarkable than attractive. They are probably the shortest race in the eastern hemisphere, unless it be Mr. Stanley's demoniacal dwarfs. A man over five feet in height would be a giant among them, and the women are rarely more than 4 feet 6 inches. They are also the shortest-headed and the thinnest-skinned people in the world. Some of them, indeed, are long-headed enough in the intellectual sense and know as well as any how to drive a bargain and deal with strangers, but they are none the less pre-eminently what the scientific people designate as "brachycephalic."—Good Words.

THE GREAT INTERIOR.

Clippings of Interesting Matter From the Newspapers of the Upper Country.

Very Important Assays of Ore From the Various Mining Camps at Lardeau.

Surveyor-General Gore and wife and Mr. Gamble are at Golden.

A postoffice is shortly to be opened at Kelowna, with Mr. Thomas Spence as postmaster.

Whooping cough is the fashionable ailment at Quesnelle at present. Most of the younger portion of the community have it.

This week many valuable specimens intended for Chicago have been sent to Golden, illustrative of the mineral wealth of the section.

The wagon road to Nakusp and Slocan is now under way. It will cost $30,000. The people up there are speaking well of the Government.

The farms around Golden are at the moment looking splendid. The corn in most cases has been cut and the vegetables are ready for marketing.

The high assays of Lardeau ore, especially in gold, have created considerable excitement in the various mining camps, and prospectors are jubilant.

The Royal Inland Hospital, Kamloops, is nearly full. Mrs. Potter, the matron, is exceedingly busy during the day and requires assistance at night for the more difficult cases.

The Government have decided to place a dredge on the Columbia. This was much needed and it will assist in improving the navigation of the river, and means further employment of labor.

The weather has been quite cold and uncertain at Quesnelle. The farmers have mostly managed to get in their hay, but the grain is still to be harvested, and the outlook is not very promising, although the grain itself looks very well.

Reports are being received at the Mission complaining of the reckless slaughter of deer. Parties who will kill deer simply for the little bit of tallow which they contain, and leave the head, hide and carcass to go to waste, had better leave them alone altogether.

It is reported that a prospector from Kaslo, who came into the Lardeau by way of Kootenay Lake and the Lardeau River, has made a rich strike in the vicinity of the group of claims recently located by J. W. Haskins and others near the head of Healy Creek. More particulars next week.

S. H. Seroy, of the Spokane and Great Northern Mining Company, has located eight rich claims in the vicinity of Healy Creek, to the north-east of Trout Lake, and has some magnificent specimens of ore which assays from $50 to $800 per ton in silver, with gold in more or less quantities.

An unusual sight was presented to our gaze this week, says the Golden Era, in the form of a carload of explosives lying at the C.P.R. depot side track ready for shipment to Thunder Hill mine. Bravo! Thunder Hill, this looks like business, but we shall be glad when the car "moves on."

Bush fires are running in many sections of the interior. Smoke fills the atmosphere and obscures the entire country in the neighborhood of Kamloops. It is difficult to trace the origin of these fires, but it is believed that many of them are caused by Indians, who appear to think that the crop of berries will be better the year after a fire.

Pool, Crockett & Robertson, who located on a big ledge they discovered about six weeks ago, sent samples for assay to San Francisco, and received a gratifying return, $49.63 in gold and $53.33 in silver, a total of $104.96 per ton. This ledge is an immense one, and thousands of tons of ore are in sight. They intend to work the mine themselves.

Good results are being obtained by the superintendent of the MacArthur-Forrest process at Golden. He has been exceedingly busy this week testing the ores of the district and those from other parts. Samples, he states, are tumbling in. A large parcel of refractory gold ore from the Rat Portage district gave when treated 85 per cent. of gold and 5 per cent. of silver.

The want of rain and a long spell of hot weather for two months have brought the ranges into a worse condition as to pasture than has ever been known before at this time of year. This is particularly the case in the direction of Nicola, but not more so than throughout the entire dry belt of the interior. Cattle are, however, looking well up to the present time, but what will be the effect on late pasturage remains to be seen, and causes some uneasiness among stockmen.

A. Abrahamson, of Revelstoke, who recently sent samples of ore from three claims in the Lardeau to San Francisco for assay, received returns Sunday last. Samples from the "Queen of the Hill" went $16.54 in gold and $152.10 in silver, or a total of $168.64 per ton; "Crystal" went $19.64 gold, 98 65 silver, a total of $118.29 per ton; "North Star" went $53.75 in gold and $23.80 in silver, a total of $77.55 per ton. Mr. Abrahamson and his partner thought so little of the ore of the last named claim that they almost decided not to send it away for assay, but eventually put in a piece of the "North Star" rock with the other samples, and now they are astonished at the amount of gold in that very common-looking bit of rock, carrying more than twice as much of the precious metal as there is silver and three times as much as either of the others. These three claims are contiguous to the "Silver Cup."

Dec. 30.

HE CAN'T TELL EVERYTHING

Chief Sheppard is Keeping Some of His Own Counsel on Certain Matters.

Chief of Police Sheppard had just finished interpreting the evidence of a siwash witness from Chinook into English. "It's hard work." He sighed and took a chair. The scene was in the police court. When the chief had sufficiently recovered he was interviewed by the TIMES man, to whom information in regard to the raiding of the houses of ill-repute on View street.

"Are you going to raid any more of those places, Chief?"

"I can't tell you fellows everything," was his rejoinder, and he picked up a pen to write.

"But you would not mind informing the public from whom you received instructions?"

The pen dropped from his hand. "Why, I did it myself, of my own accord."

"So the rumor that you received your instructions from Hon. Theo. Davie is incorrect?"

"It is all nonsense. I never saw Mr. Davie on the matter. I raided them because I thought that they should be raided. That is, it was the sentiment of the council, and there were complaints made. I have heard something myself about that report that Mr. Davie instructed me. There is nothing in it."

"Was there any reason for raiding those particular houses?"

"Do you think that I can get the whole of the keepers and the inmates of those houses on View street in three cells. If the city finds more police cell accommodation then I must do it. The most I could take at a time is eight. And that is the number that appeared in court the first day."

"Will you then raid the others?"

"I was out last (Friday) night. But it was no use, the houses were all shut up. You could not get in them."

"You could summons them though?"

"That might be the better way."

"Will your policy of extermination apply to other portions of the city as well as View street?"

"I can't be telling you everything. They will have to go from View street and that is all. It is none of my business where they go."

Hon. Theodore Davie stood ruminating on the front steps of his office this morning. In his right hand he held a folded paper, and his left manual extremity was engaged in caressing his moustache and beard. The TIMES man approached. Mr. Davie looked up, braced himself and nodded.

"There is a report, Mr. Davie, that it was by your instructions that Chief of Police Sheppard raided the haunts on View street. Is such the case?"

"I don't know anything of the matter; I never instructed Mr. Sheppard or any one."

"Common report has it so."

"Sir, when I have instructions to give I give them to my own officers, not to the city constables."

Ald. Humber, chairman of the police committee, was directing the construction of the drill shed.

"Did you give instructions to Chief of Police Sheppard to raid the 'houses' on View street?"

This question had been put by the TIMES man and repeated by the alderman.

"No, sir, I gave no instructions. Chief Sheppard received his instructions from the council. I have it in white and black. The duty of the police committee, according to the resolution of the council, was to see that these instructions were carried out."

"Do you know that it is rumored that Hon. Mr. Davie gave the instructions?"

"To tell the truth, I have heard something about the matter. The report was that Mr. Davie had instructed that unless the city police raided the houses the provincial police would do so. But I do not want to be brought into the matter. I understand that they have raided the places, and that these women will fight. I think it would be better for them not to oppose the law."

SUNDAY ON BOARD.

Life on the French Warship Dubourdieu at Esquimalt.

Yesterday on board the French flagship Dubourdieu was a busy one. A large number of invited guests were present, including the Premier, Hon. Theo. Davie. Promptly at 9.15 the entire ship's company, 450 men, all armed and accoutred for action, fell in on the main deck and opened ranks for inspection by Rear-Admiral Parrayon. After this came the march past, a very grand exhibition of military ceremonial. The men with gleaming bayonets fixed and arms shouldered moved past the reviewing stand, steady as a stone wall, the band playing the national anthem. At 10.15 divine service was conducted with military honors, a most impressive ceremony. In the front seat on the port side sat Rear-Admiral Parrayon and Hon. Theo. Davie, the visitors and ship's company occupying the remaining portion of the deck forward. After service the invited guests were entertained at breakfast by the admiral and officers. At 3 p.m. a dramatic performance was given by the crew, the piece was a favorite comedy, "Philanthrope et l'Auvergna," which lasted until 5 o'clock and caused unbounded amusement. The whole-souled cordiality displayed by Admiral Parrayon in the treatment of his guests will never be forgotten by them. He is a splendid type of old French chivalry and does the honors of his fine ship in a manner that infinitely redounds to the credit of himself and La Belle France. His geniality charmed everybody. The selections played by the band during the day were exquisitely rendered and thoroughly enjoyed. They repeated that magnificent and difficult piece the overture to William Tell, by special request and acquitted themselves gloriously.

Next Thursday is the anniversary of the founding of the French republic, September 22nd, 1792, and Frenchmen and French ships all over the world will observe the great occasion with becoming festivities. On board the Dubourdieu due recognition will be paid the day.

By kind permission of Hon. Theo. Davie, the band of the Dubourdieu will give their second public concert to-morrow afternoon on the lawn in front of the Government buildings. Through the courtesy of the James Bay Athletic Club the band will land at the club's boathouse float. The following capital programme of classical and popular music will be given:

1. March Heroique ..... V. Masse
2. Ouverture de Si j'etait Roi ..... Adam
3. Selection sur Faust ..... Gounod
4. Estudiantina Grande Valse ..... Waldteufel
5. La Figlia del Regimento ..... Donizetti
6. Marche Persane ..... Farbach

SERVANTS IN GERMANY.

Unpleasant Side of Domestic Life in a Foreign Land.

A German mistress never leaves anything eatable where the servants can get at it. She doles out daily everything for cooking and the table and then locks the larder. Sometimes, if she is a really good, careful housekeeper, she weighs at night all the meat and groceries, and again in the morning, to be assured that the servants have not in some way obtained access to the food and helped themselves. It is a common occurrence to see a hostess after tea count the cakes left on a plate to be sure the maids do not eat before she has time to put them out of reach, says a Berlin letter in the New York Evening Post.

Since everything eatable is kept locked away the German mistress keeps careful watch over all her servants eat, and allows them only what she considers sufficient. In many cases she doles out the extra number of pieces of bread, etc., the maids may have. To give an instance which came under my personal notice, the following allowance of food was given daily to her servants by a German housekeeper. In the morning for breakfast they had one cup of coffee without sugar, and two rolls without butter; at 11 o'clock they received two slices of black bread with butter, or with cold meat between; they could not have both butter and meat. For dinner at 2 they had potatoes, and meat if they had not had it earlier in the day; and for supper they received a couple of slices of black bread, cheese and a pint bottle of beer.

The German servant certainly works harder than the American, and yet she has less consideration shown her, has fewer privileges and receives smaller wages. The average wages for a "maid of all work" is from 12 to 15 marks, or from $3 to $4 a month, but a good servant may earn $4.50 to $5 a month. And we must remember, too, that living costs just about the same in Germany as in America. In some cases they are given more wages, but are obliged to feed themselves, but in this case their wages are not proportionately high enough. If a girl is faithful and remains some time in one place she expects and recieves a small money present—from $3 to $4 perhaps. Some mistresses allow their maids either a certain amount of beer—for all German servants must have beer—or give them a few cents to spend for beer or any other luxury. All these devices are resorted to to keep servants contented and induce them to remain. Most German mistresses require servants to pay for everything they break, and thus their pitiful small wages are much reduced.

Worth More than Gold.

The New York Herald says that "many of the elementary metals more valuable than gold are the following, whose market value exceeds that of gold, the price of the latter being $299.72 per pound avourdupois:—

	Value per pound.		Value per pound.
Vanadium	$4,792.40	Indium	$1,522.68
Rubidium	3,261.00	Ruthenium	1,304.64
Calcium	2,448.20	Columbium	1,250.23
Lantalum	2,446.20	Rhodium	1,032.84
Cerium	2,446.20	Barium	924.12
Lithium (wire)	2,935.44	Thallium	738.39
Lithium (glcs)	2,728 76	Osmium	652.32
Erbium	1,654.67	Palladium	498.30
Didymium	1,630.03	Iridium	466.59
Strontium	1,576.44	Uranium	434.83

These are not nominal values, as many of the elements are used in the arts. Vanadium, for instance, is employed in the production of analine black. It requires some twenty-five distinct chemical operations to extract vanadium from sandstone."

Father McDonald is a brother of Mr. R. F. McDonald, who was for some time a teacher in St. Louis College, New Westminster, and who during 1885 and 1886 was a member of the Standard editorial staff.
